CANDIDATE APPEALS FOR STATE SUPPORT

ESTIMATED CROWD OF FROM 10,000 TO 12,000 PERSONS
HEARD HIM

INTRODUCED TO AUDIENCE BY MAYOR HARRISON AS NEXT
PRESIDENT OF U. S.

Aboard Hoover Train En Route to California, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Herbert Hoover received a wildly exuberant ovation from a great crowd of Kentucky republicans, packed in the Jefferson county auditorium at Louisville today, when he appealed for the state's support with the plea that his election will mean a continuation of prosperity.

It was estimated that a crowd of from 10,000 to 12,000 persons heard the republican candidate. The nominee left immediately after the speech and a short time later was speeding through southern Indiana.

Hoover was cheered by crowds which stood along the Louisville streets as he proceeded to the armory, which was the scene of Governor Alfred E. Smith's tariff speech three weeks ago.

Hoover was introduced by Mayor William B. Harrison as "the next president of the United States." Gov. Sampson and Sen. Sackett were on the platform.

The westward journey to Palo Alto, Calif., was interrupted while the candidate was taken on a sight-seeing tour which the metropolis of the blue grass state.

Factory and train whistles greeted Hoover as he paraded through the city. The crowds which jammed the station followed the automobile caravan on foot, mingling with the street throngs to enthusiasm at Louisville's welcome.

"I know the cordial and friendly greeting which you give me is not in the spirit of partisanship," Hoover continued.

"We are now nearing the close of the campaign. The issues have been thoroughly discussed. Within a few days more than 40,000,000 people will go to the polls to express their views as to the character of the government and the policies they wish to see continued in their country."

"Under the administration of the last seven and a half years our country as a whole has made unparalleled progress. Not every group has marched in the front rank but no man can say that our country is not stronger, that his hopes are not greater than they were seven years ago.

"The peace of the world has been solidified. We have gained in domestic peace and prosperity. Prosperity is no idle expression. The continuation of prosperity is of vital interest to every worker's job and to the safety and safeguard of every business and every home.

"The issues before us are moral as well as economic. They affect the welfare of every home. The result of the election will affect the direction of our national thought and our national action for many years to come.

"I do not believe the American people in a time of such manifest evidence of progress, assurance of peace, advancement of prosperity and advancement of educational and moral forces, would wish to change in their policies."

Peace, happiness, prosperity of the American home is the chief issue for the American people in this campaign, Hoover said in his brief address.

At Cincinnati, where two brief stops were made today, Hoover and Dr. Work, chairman of the republican national committee, were greeted by Cincinnati and Louisville committees.

When Mrs. Hoover alighted from the train here, she was met by a committee of eight women leaders, who escorted her from the station to her automobile. She was cheered enthusiastically all along the route through the city.

Chairman Work of the republican national committee, who is traveling as far as his home in Pueblo, Colo., with Herbert Hoover, denied today that he intended to resign his post.

A reference which he made in his farewell address to the workers at republican headquarters before leaving Washington had been so interpreted in some quarters.

BURNING

Lake Bluff, Ill., Nov. 2.—(UP)—Miss Elfrieda Knaak died here early today of burns received in a furnace in the basement of the police station here early this week.

The death of the pretty 20-year-old book agent left unsolved the mystery of her strange case.

Miss Knaak clung to her original story of "self-torture" to "purify herself" and to satisfy a "spiritual love" which she said she held for the village's handsome night-policeman, Charles W. Hitchcock.

Throughout the three days and nights during which Elfrieda lay in Alice Home hospital she refused repeatedly to change her story that she voluntarily placed herself in the furnace, burning first her legs, then her arms and finally her head.

"I have told all you wouldn't understand," the dying girl moaned to her brothers and friends who sought to aid authorities investigating the weird burning.

Physicians last night reported Miss Knaak was sinking rapidly, that she would not live throughout the night. Her temperature had risen to 104, infection from her burns had spread through her body.

A conference between State's Attorney A. V. Smith, in charge of the investigation, and physicians resulted in the decision to confront Elfrieda with her "spiritual lover," the "Hitch" of her delirious mumbblings. Accordingly, night - policeman Hitchcock, former movie and vaudeville comedian, was brought to the hospital.

Hobbling along on crutches—his ankle was broken in a fall—Hitchcock entered the room with a cheerful "hello, Fritz, this is 'Hitch.'"

Miss Knaak opened her eyes, looked him squarely in the face, then slowly turned her head away.

"Aren't you glad to see me?" Hitchcock asked.

"Yes," Elfrieda mumbled faintly. The night-policeman then asked her several questions, "why did you do this? Who let you into the station? Why didn't you telephone me?"

The young woman did not answer, but as "Hitch" turned to leave the room she mumbled "good-bye."

The crowd at Winton Place cheered Hoover lustily, their voices somewhat muffled by the pouring rain. Hoover stood on the back platform, smiling at the crowd and thanked them for arising so early to greet him.

Many working people were in the crowd. Many had waited in the industrial outskirts of Cincinnati, where the train did not stop, and stood shivering in the cold rain, watching for a glimpse of the nominee.

New York, Nov. 2.—The boy who came up from the sidewalks of New York to become the presidential nominee of the democratic party will ride down Broadway today like an emperor.

Plans have been made to give Gov. Alfred E. Smith the greatest of the great receptions this town has showered upon returning war heroes, aviators, kings and princes. The brown derby has been carefully brushed for the occasion which will climax the home town boy's 15,000-mile campaign parade over the nation.

The parade was to start at noon at the battery, that tip of Manhattan Island where the immigrants land. Through the canyon of skyscrapers on lower Broadway it is to proceed to the city hall where the governor's friend, Mayor James J. Walker is to climb aboard.

He will lead Smith's procession over its five-mile Broadway route to Columbus Circle, through the wholesale clothing district, the department store colony and the theatrical area. At the famous cross-roads of Forty-second and Broadway, Times Square, the largest crowd is expected.

Every available policeman has been ordered into uniform to do duty along the route.

The governor will be accompanied on the trip by a dozen cars.

New York, Nov. 2.—New York cheered, screamed and fought today over the man that has made its "sidewalks" a legend in a presidential campaign.

It turned out by hundreds of frenzied, milling thousands to greet—as only New York can—Alfred E. Smith in a noon-hour parade up Broadway and Fifth Avenue.

Men, women and children forgot lunch. They jammed the sidewalks. They hailed the governor as "President Al." They showered tape. They sang.

And they battered a little group sent out by the National Woman's Party to talk anti-Smith talk in the midst of the Smith delirium.

Through it all, from the Battery to City Hall, and thence to Fifth Ave. and Fifty-ninth street, Smith rode, sitting on the folded-back top of a handsome car, smiling and waving his brown derby. He was preceded by a band and mounted police. He was followed by other cars bearing notables, and by thousands that broke through police lines to cheer him on.

IN RETURN FLIGHT ZEPPELIN BEATEN ALMOST TO WATER
BY GALE

By ERIC KEYSER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Friedrichshafen, Germany, Nov. 2.—Plans for building two vast dirigibles for trans-Atlantic service, larger, faster and stronger than the Graf Zeppelin, were announced today by Dr. Hugo Eckener.

Dr. Eckener discussed the lessons learned from the trip of the Graf Zeppelin to the United States and return, which was completed here early yesterday.

Eckener said two immense hangars would be required for the new Leviathans of the air. One hangar would be in Berlin, he said, and the site of the other has not been decided. However, he believed the Rhine valley was the most favorable spot for a central trans-Atlantic airport and suggested Baden as a good location.

Eckener repeated that the return flight of the Graf Zeppelin, during which she was beaten down almost to the water by a gale off Newfoundland and at times was close to disaster, had demonstrated that the Graf Zeppelin was inadequate for ocean service.

The framework and motors of the Graf Zeppelin must be strengthened, Eckener said.

Eckener announced that the Graf Zeppelin may be used as a training school for dirigible flying and conducting meteorological research to aid trans-Atlantic service.

Hence he plans to resume long distance flights in the Graf Zeppelin soon, including another flight across the Atlantic.

However, he thought it improbable that he would fly to the United States again before next year.

It was announced that Dr. Eckener would fly the Graf Zeppelin to Berlin on Monday and pay a personal visit to President Paul Von Hindenburg.

The Zeppelin will be moored in the suburb of Staaken and placed on exhibition.

While officers and crew of the Graf Zeppelin were recuperating today from the strain of their flight, workmen already started improvements on the dirigible in her hangar here. Strengthening the framework was the first task to be undertaken.

While the spectacular flight of the Graf Zeppelin was universally recognized, the consensus of the press today was that in trans-oceanic rivalry of airships, airplanes and steamers, the airship must remain in third place for a long time.

The press concurs in Eckener's view that the ideal trans-Atlantic passenger dirigible has not yet been attained, while delays in starting and landing owing to the weather impairs the usefulness of the airship as a mail and freight carrier. It was argued, however, that bigger, faster and stronger airships would overcome those handicaps, especially if accompanied by improvement in hangar construction.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—Clarence Terhune, youthful stowaway on the Graf Zeppelin, was a center of attraction here today. He wandered about and motored outside the city in search of a shop in which to buy clothes, but stores were closed because of a holiday.

Famous overnight as the first stowaway on an airship, Terhune was greeted like a national hero when he reached here. On his way in he was swamped by wireless messages with offers of jobs.

The general attitude of the press toward Clarence Terhune, American stowaway on the Graf Zeppelin was changed today.

One newspaper said: "Clarence is a bluff."

No definite statements were made but stories said Terhune was under strict supervision of one American newspaper man who made the trip on the Zeppelin and it was hinted that the stowaway was part of a publicity-news scheme.

The United States lines offered Terhune free passage home to the liner Republic. The Zeppelin sailed from Bremen on Nov.

Eckener repeated that the return flight of the Graf Zeppelin, during which she was beaten down almost to the water by a gale off Newfoundland and at times was close to disaster, had demonstrated that the Graf Zeppelin was inadequate for ocean service.

The framework and motors of the Graf Zeppelin must be strengthened, Eckener said.

Eckener announced that the Graf Zeppelin may be used as a training school for dirigible flying and conducting meteorological research to aid trans-Atlantic service.

Hence he plans to resume long distance flights in the Graf Zeppelin soon, including another flight across the Atlantic.

However, he thought it improbable that he would fly to the United States again before next year.

It was announced that Dr. Eckener would fly the Graf Zeppelin to Berlin on Monday and pay a personal visit to President Paul Von Hindenburg.

The Zeppelin will be moored in the suburb of Staaken and placed on exhibition.

While officers and crew of the Graf Zeppelin were recuperating today from the strain of their flight, workmen already started improvements on the dirigible in her hangar here. Strengthening the framework was the first task to be undertaken.

While the spectacular flight of the Graf Zeppelin was universally recognized, the consensus of the press today was that in trans-oceanic rivalry of airships, airplanes and steamers, the airship must remain in third place for a long time.

The press concurs in Eckener's view that the ideal trans-Atlantic passenger dirigible has not yet been attained, while delays in starting and landing owing to the weather impairs the usefulness of the airship as a mail and freight carrier. It was argued, however, that bigger, faster and stronger airships would overcome those handicaps, especially if accompanied by improvement in hangar construction.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—Clarence Terhune, youthful stowaway on the Graf Zeppelin, was a center of attraction here today. He wandered about and motored outside the city in search of a shop in which to buy clothes, but stores were closed because of a holiday.

Famous overnight as the first stowaway on an airship, Terhune was greeted like a national hero when he reached here. On his way in he was swamped by wireless messages with offers of jobs.

The general attitude of the press toward Clarence Terhune, American stowaway on the Graf Zeppelin was changed today.

One newspaper said: "Clarence is a bluff."

No definite statements were made but stories said Terhune was under strict supervision of one American newspaper man who made the trip on the Zeppelin and it was hinted that the stowaway was part of a publicity-news scheme.

The United States lines offered Terhune free passage home today on the liner Republic. The Republic sails from Bremen on Nov. 3.

Grant Haggquist of the McPhail School of Music rendered a number of violin selections. Rev. Carl Hognander was master of ceremonies for the evening.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white chiffon and veil and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Backstrom wore a dress of peacock blue georgette and carried pink roses and chrysanthemums. The little flower girl, Lois LeVahn, niece of the bridegroom, was dressed in pale green silk and carried a basket of roses and baby chrysanthemums. A wedding luncheon was served following the ceremony.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Hilmer Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson and daughter, Gladys, of Brainerd.

Mrs. LeVahn is well known in Brainerd, having grown up here and is popular as a pianist.

After a motor trip to Duluth Mr. and Mrs. LeVahn will be at home in North Minneapolis.

25th Wedding Anniversary

About 20 neighbors and 15 friends from Brainerd gathered at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Berndsson on Nisswa lake near Nisswa last evening to honor the 25th anniversary of their marriage.

Rev. P. G. Fallquist of the Swedish Bethany church presented the couple with a purse and A. M. Opsahl, John Soderlund of Brainerd and F. G. Gustafson of Pequot were speakers on the informal program.

The evening was spent in a social way. A luncheon was served after which a large wedding cake was cut before the friends returned to their homes.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

November 2, 1903

Mrs. Batcheller and Frederick left for Staples this noon on professional business.

The concert given under the auspices of the Brainerd Ladies Musical club last night at the First Congregational church by Edward Baxter Perry, was without a doubt one of the very best musical events in the history of the city. Mr. Perry captivated his audience and it was a treat long to be remembered. The ladies certainly scored a big success in getting this artist for a concert in Brainerd.

Mrs. C. E. McMullen and children returned from Staples this afternoon where they visited for a day.

Will Ady left again for Colorado this afternoon on land business.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heath, who were lately married, will go to house-keeping in the residence of Mrs. M. Wilson at the mills.

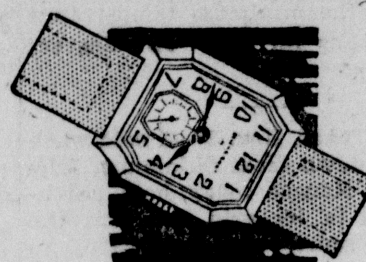

Mrs. Joseph Edelbrock left this afternoon for St. Cloud where she will visit for a short time with relatives and friends.

Mrs. B. LeBlanc left this noon for Wadena where she will visit for a short time.

Miss Elsie Young returned from the south this afternoon.

Edward Baxter Perry left this noon for Fargo where he will appear in a concert tonight.

APPLAUSE FOR THE LINEMEN

The Stillwater Post-Messenger believes in recognizing the linemen of football as well as every day life. The paper states: Notre Dame's great football machine went down to defeat at Madison, Wisconsin, recently. Something of a surprise to those of us who have long regarded the Irish battlers as invincible and unbeatable.

How did it happen? All the sports writers and radio announcers told the same story. The Wisconsin line outplayed the Notre Dame line.

No, it wasn't the work of great open field runners, fellows who always thrill the crowd and unfortunately get almost all the applause. It was due to the struggling of the men in the line—the ones who always do the hard work and get the least praise and publicity.

This is always true in football. It is true in other things as well—in business or community enterprises for example. Some individuals always get the praise and applause, their names always figure prominently in the news stories; they are the ball carriers—the backfield men. But they wouldn't get so far if they didn't get the support of some hard working linemen.

"And who are these linemen in community enterprise?" They're the fellows who are more interested in seeing the job well done than in the plaudits and praise that follow. They're the ones who are always ready to go on any committee, and help the chairman put his program over. They're the ones who say: "Your plan is O. K. with me, count on me for your support."

VOTING BY SCHOOL TEACHERS

THERE is some misunderstanding as to whether school teachers have a right to vote in the precinct where the school is located. According to a decision by Clifford L. Hilton, Attorney General, March 27, 1922, the matter of whether a teacher is eligible to vote in the precinct where she teaches is a matter to be decided by the teacher and the election judges. No one else has any right to interfere.

The law is that if a citizen has resided in a precinct thirty days and in the state six months, he is entitled to vote in the precinct. Whether or not a teacher is a resident of a precinct, even though she has resided there thirty days, is a matter for her to decide. If she wishes to vote in the precinct and tells the election judges that the precinct is her home, basing that opinion on the circumstance that she works there and draws her wages there, and that because of her employment there she has no immediate intention of removing from the precinct, then she has a right to vote and no one can in justice deny her that privilege.—Long Prairie Leader.

LAST MINUTE STORIES

THE most aggressive campaign in the memory of this generation is drawing to its close, says the Wadena Pioneer Journal editorially. All has been said and done in behalf of the two national tickets that political ingenuity could devise. Much extraneous matter has crept in to the regret of those who believe in fair play and many things have been said and done that will be matters for regret later on.

The voters will do well to remain on their guard against last minute stories that cannot be verified or disproven for the lack of time. There are rumors that much last minute stuff is being distilled in the political laboratories for consumption by the electorate. Be on your guard. The individual who "pulls" that sort of stuff is too measly to waste time on but he usually makes some of it stick with the unthinking.

Above all, be sure and go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 6, and register your preference. To do so is not alone your right but your sacred duty.

RETURN JUSTICE C. L. HILTON

THE judges of the Supreme and District Courts of this state are on the ballot without party designation and there is nothing to indicate which one on the ballot for such an office is the incumbent.

Clifford L. Hilton was appointed to the office of Justice of the Supreme Court of this state by Governor Christianson and such appointment took effect on January 1, 1923.

At the time of the appointment he was attorney general, having served in that office for two months less than ten years. There is no reason why Judge Hilton should not be returned to the Supreme Court and every reason why he should be. Remember Clifford L. Hilton for Justice of the Supreme Court.

ELECTING HOOVER AND NELSON

FARMERS throughout the state and this district are convinced that it will be to their interests to have Herbert Hoover and Arthur E. Nelson elected President and United States Senator, respectively, on November 6.

During the past few days Republican State Headquarters in St. Paul has had many expressions of opinion from prominent farmers throughout Minnesota indicating that farmers as a class feel that Hoover's election will be most effective only if he has the support of Republicans in the Senate. Nelson fills the requirement, and in addition is a man of unquestioned ability, well qualified to fill in an able manner the office which he seeks.

CONGRESSMAN HAROLD KNUTSON

REMEMBER when you come to vote for congressman that the present congressman is HAROLD Knutson. It happens that his opponent on the Farmer-Labor ticket has the name Knutsen, although his first name is "John." Remember that it is HAROLD who has served our district so well the past ten or twelve years.

It takes twenty minutes to affix Georgia's great seal to a document, because of the complicated process of 1799 still in use, requiring a dye, gilt paper, wax wafers and ribbons.

W. E. PARKER, Wadena banker who died last Tuesday, was well known in Brainerd.

ONE thing is certain, if there were no customers there would be no bootleggers.

The trouble with reform is that every one insists upon it, and there is none. It is natural for us to muddle along as we have been muddling along for ages, and nature cannot be reformed at wholesale. Vitamine. Dermutation. Halitosis. Jimmy-pipe. Neutrodyne. Orthophonic. These and hundreds of others . . . words that have won a place in contemporary language through the medium of the advertising columns.

How can anyone keep up with the times if he doesn't read the advertisements?

It is often said that the advertisements offer a liberal education. The new electrical appliances that take the drudgery out of housework first saw the light of day in the advertising columns. A vegetable substitute for silk is discovered, and you hear about it first through an advertisement.

What are the new models in motor-cars? The advertisements tell you, before you go to the auto show. What's the best show in town? What's the newest in hats and shoes and golf-togs? Consult the advertisements. That's the way to keep up with the times. That's the way to make the family budget go farther.

Read the advertisements in this paper regularly. The big ones and the little ones. Search them through for values you might otherwise never know about.

By becoming a regular reader of the advertising columns,
you become a well-informed person

At the time of the appointment he was attorney general, having served in that office for two months less than ten years. There is no reason why Judge Hilton should not be returned to the Supreme Court and every reason why he should be. Remember Clifford L. Hilton for Justice of the Supreme Court.

ELECTING HOOVER AND NELSON

FARMERS throughout the state and this district are convinced that it will be to their interests to have Herbert Hoover and Arthur E. Nelson elected President and United States Senator, respectively, on November 6.

During the past few days Republican State Headquarters in St. Paul has had many expressions of opinion from prominent farmers throughout Minnesota indicating that farmers as a class feel that Hoover's election will be most effective only if he has the support of Republicans in the Senate. Nelson fills the requirement, and in addition is a man of unquestioned ability, well qualified to fill in an able manner the office which he seeks.

CONGRESSMAN HAROLD KNUTSON

REMEMBER when you come to vote for congressman that the present congressman is HAROLD Knutson. It happens that his opponent on the Farmer-Labor ticket has the name Knutson, although his first name is "John." Remember that it is HAROLD who has served our district so well the past ten or twelve years.

It takes twenty minutes to affix Georgia's great seal to a document, because of the complicated process of 1799 still in use, requiring a dye, gilt paper, wax wafers and ribbons.

How can anyone keep up with the times if he doesn't read the advertisements?

It is often said that the advertisements offer a liberal education. The new electrical appliances that take the drudgery out of housework first saw the light of day in the advertising columns. A vegetable substitute for silk is discovered, and you hear about it first through an advertisement.

What are the new models in motor-cars? The advertisements tell you, before you go to the auto show. What's the best show in town? What's the newest in hats and shoes and golf-togs? Consult the advertisements. That's the way to keep up with the times. That's the way to make the family budget go farther.

3 BIG GAMES SCHEDULED SATURDAY ON EASTERN FIELDS

NEW YORK U. VS. GEORGETOWN AT YANKEE STADIUM

YALE AND DARTMOUTH MEET ON GRIDIRON AT NEW HAVEN

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

New York, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Almost 200,000 fans are expected
to see the three big football
games in the east Saturday. The estimated crowds follow:
Yale - Dartmouth at New Haven—75,000.
Notre Dame-Penn State at Philadelphia—60,000.
New York U-Georgetown at
New York—60,000.
Total 195,000.

New York, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Only
three big games are scheduled Saturday on eastern gridirons.

The New York university-Geor-
getown university game at Yankee
stadium will bring together the east's high-scoring teams and two of the five undefeated major eleven in this section.

Notre Dame makes its first appearance of the season in the east
against Penn State, at Philadelphia,
in the outstanding intersectional
game.

Yale and Dartmouth, both beaten
for the first time last week, meet at
New Haven, and the winner may
finish the season among the leaders.

Two eastern eleven invade the Big Ten. Princeton meeting Ohio
State at Columbus and Pennsylvania
clashing with Chicago at Chicago.

Two minor intersectional games
will bring together the Army and
De Pauw at West Point and Colgate
and Wabash at Hamilton, N. Y. De Pauw should give the Army a breathing spell after its two stiff battles
against Harvard and Yale, but Col-
gate may be in bad shape after its terrible beating at the hands of N.
Y. U. and may find Wabash trouble-
some.

Boston college, coached by 22-
year-old Joe McKenney and with an
unblemished record, has a setup in Manhattan in a minor game at Boston. Carnegie Tech, another unbeaten team, will rest this week in preparation for three hard games in a row with Georgetown, Notre Dame
and New York university.

Harvard will play its second string
team against Lehigh at Cambridge
and Navy expects to score its first
smashing victory over West Virginia
Wesleyan at Annapolis.

TORAL TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

MEXICAN ACCUSED OF BEING THE ASSASSIN OF OBREGON

San Angel, Mexico, Nov. 2.—(UP)—
The trial of Jose De Leon Toral,
assassin of President-elect Alvaro
Obregon, began today.

Selection of a jury of nine to try
Torol and Mother Superior Maria
Concepcion, accused of being the
"moral instigator" of his crime,
started at 9:30 A. M. in a heavily
guarded district court room here.

All spectators were searched for
arms as they entered the building.

A jury of nine was obtained an hour after the start of the proceedings.

A great throng gathered for the
trial, which has aroused more interest than any court proceeding since
the court martial of Emperor Maximilian.

The court room, which was designed to seat only 100, was jammed.
Two hundred persons slept outside
the building all night in an effort to be first to enter. Thousands will hear the trial broadcast by radio.

Toral and the nun sat in the front
row, closely watched by guards as
the proceedings began. A picture
of Obregon, in full dress uniform,
looked down at them from the wall.

Counsel for Toral will try to show
that his crime was political, not personal, and hence plead against the death penalty. They contend that Torol is a religious fanatic who was
not inspired by hatred, but by sincere belief that the removal of Obregon would be for the country's
good.

Toral appeared to have won some sympathy. The crowd outside the court cheered Demetrio Sodi, chief
defense counsel, when he arrived.

POSTMASTER AND HIS SISTER-IN-LAW REMOVED FROM OFFICE

Washington, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Acting
Postmaster General Glover today removed from office Robert H. Stickler,
postmaster, and his sister-in-law, Mrs.
Bessie Burns Stickler, assistant postmaster, at Lansford, Pa.

Glover said the postmaster and his
assistant were found guilty of conspiracy to violate postal laws and regulations by putting through the Lan-
sford post office matter, though mail-
able, without postmark or other identification matter.

A number of anonymous circulars
signed "non-partisan committee," attacking the candidacy of Herbert Hoover and candidates for local office in that district, was the matter sent out,
Glover said.

ONLY TWO GAMES BETWEEN BIG 10 CONFERENCE MEN

OHIO STATE AND PRINCETON HEAD PROGRAM WITH GAME AT COLUMBUS

TO TEST MERITS OF WESTERN CONFERENCE AND EAST- ERN TEAMS

By DIXON STEWART

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Intersectional
games will feature in middle-western football circles tomorrow. Only
two games between Big Ten conference members are billed, the other
teams being scheduled for intersec-
tional or practice games.

Ohio State and Princeton head the
program with a game at Columbus,
which will provide a test as to the
merits of western conference and
eastern teams. Both schools are leaders in their territory, the Buckeyes having won every start this season. Princeton was defeated, 3
to 0, last week by Cornell but is
rated with the east's leaders.

Pennsylvania, which plays Coach

A. A. Stagg's Maroons at Chicago,
seems certain to get revenge for the
defeats sustained at the hands of
Big Ten conference teams the past
three years. The easterners were defeated twice by Illinois and once
by Chicago in the past three years.

The third intersectional game will
bring together Wisconsin's Badgers
and Alabama's Crimson tide. Wisconsin still is undefeated in Big Ten
circles, while Alabama has won every start. The teams are new rivals.

Illinois' clash with Michigan will
be the only important Big Ten battle
and Illinois should win easily. Michigan has been unable to win a game
this season while the champion Illini apparently are on their way to
a second title.

Minnesota, eliminated from the
championship race by its defeat at
the hands of Iowa, meets a strong opponent in Northwestern. The game at Evanston will attract a capacities crowd.

Iowa and Purdue play "breather" games, the Hawks taking on South Dakota and the Boilermakers meeting Case. Indiana will be idle.

In the Big Six conference Nebr-
ska plays at Kansas and Oklahoma is scheduled with Iowa State, at Ames.

Kansas Aggies, the other Big Six
team, is not scheduled this week, and
no games between Missouri Valley
teams are scheduled. Grinnell meeting Marquette, Washington playing
Haskell and Oklahoma A. and M.
taking on Oklahoma City U.

NEW MYSTERY WITNESS IN KEYES CASE

Los Angeles, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Interest in the grand jury investigation of the asserted bribery of District Attorney
Asa Keyes was stirred today by a new
mystery witness.

The witness, apparently of foreign
extraction, was granted a body guard
of deputy sheriffs after he conferred
with Thomas Cooke, foreman of the jury.

The man, Cooke said, will return
this afternoon to give possible vital
evidence in "a case under investigation."

Since the grand jury now is investigating only the Asa Keyes bribery
charges, the mystery man was accepted as a probable important witness.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, covers a garden fete given by Spencer Hayden, a millionaire. There he meets Ann Tremaine, debutante daughter of a wealthy banker,
who is engaged to marry Hector Richards, whom she does not love. She becomes interested in Dunn, who is different from the men she has always known, and when he asks her to direct him
to Mr. Hayden, she pretends she is a poor girl who has crashed the party. They leave the party and sit talking on a bench nearby.
Dunn rails against the idle rich and his ideas stir Ann.

CHAPTER V.

JERRY DUNN'S criticism of
her friends aroused in Ann
a momentary feeling of
loyalty. They were stupid, she realized, but they weren't all spineless saps. They were the only
friends she knew, they were her
intimates, but she realized keenly
that she had little true congeniality with any of them. They represented a continual round of the same thing, parties, cocktails, gabble.

Among them there was almost
no conversation, only gossip.
Bridge and golf were their high
points of interest, aside from the
usual sex affairs that grew mainly
out of gin and boredom. Yes,
they were all human enough . . .
but dull. Why then did she continue to bore herself by associat-
ing with them, by living a life
that already had begun to lose its
last flavor of interest? Was it possible that this young man who
had picked her up at a lawn fete
knew of a more zestful layer of society? And why on earth had
she allowed herself to be picked
up?

Her senses were in something
of a swirl. She couldn't answer
her own questions but she was
certain that some day, somehow,
they would have to be settled.

"You said you were a stenographer—where do you work?"
Despite her perplexity over
large problems there was still
room in Ann's mind for amusement at this all-wise young man
who had been so easily deceived.
A newspaper man, she had imagined, was supposed to be a keen
reader of character, a swift observer beyond the ability of ordinary men. But she admitted, her companion might not be a good reporter. Maybe he was only a cub, a beginner.

He was likable and kindly, but
there was just a touch of cock-
sureness about him that deserved
a little humiliation.

"I'm sorry, but I've been fool-
ing you," she told him frankly.
"You don't read people—their occupations, rather—very easily, Mr. . . ."

"Dunn, Jerry Dunn . . .?"
"Mr. Jerry Dunn. Sometimes I
might wish I were a working girl,
but I'm not. Those people back
there at the Haydens, those alleged stuffed shirts and brainless,
peacocks, they're my people, my friends. I belong to them—I've grown up with them. Your discussion of them has been very interesting—as an outside viewpoint."

For an instant there was a
stunned look in Dunn's eyes.
"You put it over on me," he said,
slowly. "I've been kidded."

"You said you were a stenographer and I believed you. I can see now that you never worked a
day in your life—you've got that pampered look and way—but I
was too dumb to see it till you
told me."

"It isn't important," Ann said
sottovoice.

"It's too bad you aren't a working gal," he said with his occasional touch of slang.

"Why?"

"Why? Because if you were
there wouldn't be any of this
golden barrier stuff between us.
I'd go right ahead and be plumb
crazy about you. Listen—I don't fall for the gals very often. But
you—you hit me where I live—
and that's not a lot of boloney
either. I mean it. Maybe you
wouldn't be able to see me at all
—but I wouldn't be licked before
I started. Not if you belonged to the mob, so to speak."

Ann was silent. Maybe what

"You put it over on me," he said slowly. "I've been
kidded."

"I actually thought you were facing some great tragedy in your
life—when you said you expected
you were going to hell. It's too bad."

Ann smiled at his seriousness.

"Because I'm not facing tragedy?"

"No—I'm thinking about my
hard luck. You appealed to me—
I wanted to know you better. But
now we won't be able to see much
of each other—we can't have much
in common."

"Why not?"

"Girls like you—well, my stuff
wouldn't click with you. I know
what your life is and it's a million
miles from what mine is."

"Aren't you getting a little stupid?" Ann asked, honestly.

"No—it's true. You have a set
of values established—money, society stuff and things like that.
That's the real thing for you,
you've been brought up to it. This country is a democracy all right,
but, believe me, there's a chasm
a mile wide between the ones
with rough and—well, the rest of us. We speak the same language, but we don't mean the
same thing."

He looked at her regretfully.
She was beautiful—there was a
poise, a regularity of features,
that gave her a touch of aloof
dignity—that concealed any evidence of the suppressed stirrings
in her restless heart. Jerry Dunn's eyes absorbed the soft curve of her throat, the sleekness of her head, studied the dark liquid
depths of her eyes.

he said was all true . . . maybe
she was hedged around with golden barriers . . . maybe she
was once and for all and forever
amalgamated with that select little group that was even now so neatly herded into Spencer Hayden's expensive pasture.

"Mind telling me who you are and everything?" Jerry Dunn
asked.

"Ann Tremaine. My father's president of the First National Bank."

"I'm Jerry Dunn," the reporter
told her, "and no family references go with the name. No money, either."

"But that shouldn't discourage
you," she tried to tell him. "You
shouldn't feel inferior."

"Inferior?" He looked at her with cynical astonishment. "Inferior to that layout of humanity
back at Hayden's? Good God—they couldn't pay me to be one of them! I'm getting some fun out of living."

BY QUIN HALL.

WHEN the strong Wisconsin
eleven—Thistlethwaite
coached—ramped over the
Notre Dame Ramblers to the
strains of a 22-6 score earlier in
the season, the boys who huddle in
the bleachers in their raccoon coats
and do a lot of cheering shook
their heads and started in to pity
poor old Knute Rockne.

It was the first time in a decade
that the Irish from South Bend had
been forced to bow to a Big Ten
eleven—and what a bow!

A week later in Chicago before
the biggest mob that ever witnessed a gridiron struggle the Notre Dame warriors retrieved
some of their lost prestige by taking the Navy, 7-0. The Navy may have a weak team you chortle—
and well you may—because the Navy, before the Notre Dame
clash, had met defeat at the hands
of Davis-Ellins and Boston College. These games gave the Navy
nothing to cheer about as they went into the matinee with the Irish.

However, the Ramblers DID win
and while the margin wasn't anything that a Zeppelin could be
shoved through, it was enough to give Notre Dame a start which
may yet lead to another successful
season for Rockne's Rockets.

In all of his early games,
Rockne shot in what he likes to refer to as his "shock troops" to
disrupt the enemy attack and bore
holes in the opposing walls for
ground gaining Irish ball carriers.
Rockne will doubtless continue to
utilize his shock troops to cause
trouble throughout the whole season.

The Notre Dame shock troops
make up in ability what they lack
in numbers. The entire outfit is composed of the Irish from South Bend and on December 8 they will meet Southern California in Los Angeles. The Irish did not meet
two of these opponents—Penn
State and Carnegie—last fall
while they met defeat at the hands
of the Army—18-0—and just managed to grasp a victory from Southern California, 7-6.

An interesting feature about the Notre Dame team is the fact that
almost all of the games are played
away from home—hence, the Ramblers. This condition is brought about by the fact that they haven't
a stadium at South Bend that will accommodate anything like a large crowd.

Consequently Rockne has to depend on his gang doing a lot of traveling and before the end of
the season it will probably be
found that Niemiec is a consistent rip-snorting Rambler who usually makes the distance required.

3 BIG GAMES SCHEDULED SATURDAY ON EASTERN FIELDS

NEW YORK U. VS. GEORGETOWN AT YANKEE STADIUM

YALE AND DARTMOUTH MEET ON GRIDIRON AT NEW HAVEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—Al-
most 200,000 fans are expected
to see the three big football
games in the east Saturday. The
estimated crowds follow:

Yale - Dartmouth at New Haven—75,000.
Notre Dame-Penn State at Philadelphia—60,000.
New York U-Georgetown at
New York—60,000.
Total 195,000.

New York, Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—Only
three big games are scheduled Saturday on eastern gridirons.

The New York university-Geor-
getown university game at Yankee
stadium will bring together the
east's high-scoring teams and two of the five undefeated major eleven in this section.

Notre Dame makes its first appearance of the season in the east
against Penn State, at Philadelphia,
in the outstanding intersectional
game.

Yale and Dartmouth, both beaten
for the first time last week, meet at
New Haven, and the winner may
finish the season among the leaders.

Two eastern eleven invades the Big Ten. Princeton meeting Ohio
State at Columbus and Pennsylvania
clashing with Chicago at Chicago.

Two minor intersectional games
will bring together the Army and
De Pauw at West Point and Colgate
and Wabash at Hamilton, N. Y. De
Pauw should give the Army a breath-
ing spell after its two stiff battles
against Harvard and Yale, but Col-
gate may be in bad shape after its
terrible beating at the hands of N.
Y. U. and may find Wabash trouble-
some.

Boston college, coached by 22-
year-old Joe McKenney and with an
unblemished record, has a setup in Manhattan in a minor game at Boston. Carnegie Tech, another unbeaten team, will rest this week in
a row with Georgetown, Notre Dame
and New York university.

Harvard will play its second string
team against Lehigh at Cambridge
and Navy expects to score its first
smashing victory over West Virginia
Wesleyan at Annapolis.

TORAL TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

MEXICAN ACCUSED OF BEING THE ASSASSIN OF OBREGON

San Angel, Mexico, Nov. 2.—(U.P.)
—The trial of Jose De Leon Toral,
assassin of President-elect Alvaro
Obregon, began today.

Torol and Mother Superior Maria
Concepcion, accused of being the
"moral instigator" of his crime,
started at 9:30 A. M. in a heavily
guarded district court room here.

All spectators were searched for
arms as they entered the building.
A jury of nine was obtained an
hour after the start of the proceedings.

A great throng gathered for the
trial, which has aroused more interest than any court proceeding since
the court martial of Emperor Max-
millian.

The court room, which was de-
signed to seat only 100, was jammed.
Two hundred persons slept outside
the building all night in an effort to
hear the trial broadcast by radio.

Toral and the nun sat in the front
row, closely watched by guards as
the proceedings began. A picture
of Obregon, in full dress uniform,
looked down at them from the wall.

Counsel for Toral will try to show
that his crime was political, not personal, and hence plead against the
death penalty. They contend that Torol is a religious fanatic who was
not inspired by hatred, but by sincere belief that the removal of Ob-
regon would be for the country's
good.

Toral appeared to have won some
sympathy. The crowd outside the
court cheered Demetrio Sodi, chief

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES IN MIDWEST TOMORROW

POSTMASTER AND HIS SISTER-IN-LAW REMOVED FROM OFFICE

Postmaster General Glover today re-
moved from office Robert H. Stickler,
postmaster, and his sister-in-law, Mrs.
Bessie Burns Stickler, assistant post-
master, at Lansford, Pa.
Glover said the postmaster and his
assistant were found guilty of conspiracy to violate postal laws and regulations by putting through the Lan-
sford post office matter, though mail-
able, without postmark or other identification matter.

A number of anonymous circulars
signed "non-partisan committee," attacking the candidacy of Herbert Hoover and candidates for local office in
that district, was the matter sent out,

FAST MAIL PLANE CARRIES RECORDS OF COURT CASE

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—A fast mail plane sped toward Washington today carrying records of the case of Robert Percy Lofton, who by a 14-day reprieve granted by Acting
Gov. Bidwell Adams last night, escaped a sentence to be hanged at 5 A. M. today. Lofton's parents live at Fort Worth, Texas.

ONLY TWO GAMES BETWEEN BIG 10 CONFERENCE MEN

OHIO STATE AND PRINCETON HEAD PROGRAM WITH GAME AT COLUMBUS

TO TEST MERITS OF WESTERN CONFERENCE AND EAST- ERN TEAMS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Intersectional
games will feature in middle-western football circles tomorrow. Only
two games between Big Ten conference members are billed, the other
teams being scheduled for intersec-
tional or practice games.

Ohio State and Princeton head the
program with a game at Columbus,
which will provide a test as to the
merits of western conference and
eastern teams. Both schools are
leaders in their territory, the Buck-
eyes having won every start this
season. Princeton was defeated, 3
to 0, last week by Cornell but is
rated with the east's leaders.
Pennsylvania, which plays Coach

A. A. Stagg's Maroons at Chicago,
seems certain to get revenge for the
defeats sustained at the hands of
Big Ten conference teams the past
three years. The easterners were
defeated twice by Illinois and once
by Chicago in the past three years.

The third intersectional game will
bring together Wisconsin's Badgers
and Alabama's Crimson tide. Wisconsin still is undefeated in Big Ten
circles, while Alabama has won
every start. The teams are new
rivals.

Illinois' clash with Michigan will
be the only important Big Ten battle
and Illinois should win easily. Michigan has been unable to win a game
this season while the champion Il-
lini apparently are on their way to
a second title.

Minnesota, eliminated from the
championship race by its defeat at
the hands of Iowa, meets a strong
opponent in Northwestern. The
game at Evanston will attract a capacity crowd.

Iowa and Purdue play "breather"
games, the Hawks taking on South
Dakota and the Boilermakers meeting Case. Indiana will be idle.

In the Big Six conference Nebraska plays at Kansas and Oklahoma is scheduled with Iowa State, at Ames.

Kansas Aggies, the other Big Six
team, is not scheduled this week, and
no games between Missouri Valley
teams are scheduled. Grinnell meeting Marquette, Washington playing
Haskell and Oklahoma A. and M.
taking on Oklahoma City U.

NEW MYSTERY WITNESS IN KEYES CASE

Los Angeles, Nov. 2.—(U.P.)—Interest in the grand jury investigation of the
asserted bribery of District Attorney
Asa Keyes was stirred today by a new
mystery witness.

The witness, apparently of foreign
extraction, was granted a body guard
of deputy sheriffs after he conferred
with Thomas Cooke, foreman of the
jury.

The man, Cooke said, will return
this afternoon to give possible vital
evidence in "a case under investigation."

Since the grand jury now is investigating only the Asa Keyes bribery
charges, the mystery man was accepted as a probable important witness.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, covers a
garden fete given by Spencer Hayden, a millionaire. There he meets Ann Tremaine, debutante daughter of a wealthy banker,
who is engaged to marry Hector Richards, whom she does not love. She becomes interested in Dunn, who is different from the men she has always known, and when he asks her to direct him
to Mr. Hayden, she pretends she is a poor girl who has crashed
the party. They leave the party and sit talking on a bench nearby.
Dunn rails against the idle rich and his ideas stir Ann.

CHAPTER V.

JERRY DUNN'S criticism of
her friends aroused in Ann
a momentary feeling of
loyalty. They were stupid, she
realized, but they weren't all
spineless saps. They were the only
friends she knew, they were her
intimates, but she realized keenly
that she had little true congeniality with any of them. They represented a continual round of the same thing, parties, cocktails, gabble.

Among them there was almost
no conversation, only gossip.
Bridge and golf were their high
points of interest, aside from the
usual sex affairs that grew mainly
out of gin and boredom. Yes,
they were all human enough . . .
but dull. Why then did she continue to bore herself by associat-
ing with them, by living a life
that already had begun to lose its
last flavor of interest? Was it
possible that this young man who
had picked her up at a lawn fete
knew of a more zestful layer of
society? And why on earth had
she allowed herself to be picked
up?

Her senses were in something
of a swirl. She couldn't answer
her own questions but she was
certain that some day, somehow,
they would have to be settled.

"You said you were a stenographer—where do you work?"
Despite her perplexity over
large problems there was still
room in Ann's mind for amuse-
ment at this all-wise young man
who had been so easily deceived.

A newspaper man, she had imagined, was supposed to be a keen
reader of character, a swift ob-
server beyond the ability of ordinary men. But, she admitted, her
companion might not be a good
reporter. Maybe he was only a cub, a beginner.

He was likable and kindly, but
there was just a touch of cock-
sureness about him that deserved
a little humiliation.

"I'm sorry, but I've been fool-
ing you," she told him frankly.
"You don't read people—their occupations, rather—very easily,
Mr. . . ."

"Dunn, Jerry Dunn . . ."
"Mr. Jerry Dunn. Sometimes I
might wish I were a working girl,
but I'm not. Those people back
there at the Haydens, those alleged stuffed shirts and brainless
peacocks, they're my people, my
friends. I belong to them—I've
grown up with them. Your discussion of them has been very interesting—as an outside view-
point."

For an instant there was a
stunned look in Dunn's eyes.
"You put it over on me," he said,
slowly. "I've been kidded."

"Yes."
"You said you were a stenographer and I believed you. I can
see now that you never worked a
day in your life—you've got that
pampered look and way—but I
was too dumb to see it till you
told me."

"It isn't important," Ann said
soothingly.

"It is to me." Disappointment was in his voice.
"It was nothing but a whim," Ann explained. "I suppose I was just a little bored. Don't take it seriously."

"Why not?"

"Because I'm not facing tragedy."

"No—I'm thinking about my
hard luck. You appealed to me—
I wanted to know you better. But
now we won't be able to see much
of each other—we can't have much
in common."

"Why not?"

"Girls like you—well, my stuff
wouldn't click with you. I know
what your life is and it's a million
miles from what mine is."

"Aren't you getting a little
stupid?" Ann asked, honestly.

"No—it's true. You have a set
of values established—money, society stuff and things like that.
That's the real thing for you,
you've been brought up to it.
This country is a democracy all right, but, believe me, there's a chasm a mile wide between the ones with rough and—well, the rest of us. We speak the same language, but we don't mean the
same thing."

He looked at her regretfully.

She was beautiful—there was a
poise, a regularity of features,
that gave her a touch of aloof
dignity—that concealed any evidence of the suppressed stirrings
in her restless heart. Jerry Dunn eyes absorbed the soft curve of her throat, the sleekness of her hair, studied the dark liquid
depths of her eyes.

"It's too bad you aren't a working gal," he said with his occasional touch of slang.

"Why?"

"Why? Because if you were
there wouldn't be any of this
golden barrier stuff between us.
I'd go right ahead and be plumb
crazy about you. Listen—I don't fall for the gals very often. But
you—you hit me where I live—
and that's not a lot of boloney
either. I mean it. Maybe you
wouldn't be able to see me at all
—but I wouldn't be licked before
I started. Not if you belonged to the mob, so to speak."

Ann was silent. Maybe what

"You put it over on me," he
said slowly. "I've been
kidded."

"I actually thought you were
facing some great tragedy in your
life—when you said you expected
you were going to hell. It's too
bad."

Ann smiled at his seriousness.

"Because I'm not facing tragedy."

"No—I'm thinking about my
hard luck. You appealed to me—
I wanted to know you better. But
now we won't be able to see much

golden barriers . . . maybe she

amalgamated with that select lit-

herded into Spencer Hayden's ex-

asked.

"Ann Tremaine. My father's

told her, "and no family refer-

money, either."

you," she tried to tell him. "You

A Shock Trooper at Notre Dame

Johnny NIEMIEC

LEFT HALF-BACK AT NOTRE DAME.

JOHNNY CAN
PUNT, PASS ACCURATELY AND SLIP THROUGH TACKLERS FOR GOOD GAINS.

WONDER IF I'LL NEED TWO PAIR OF SOCKS?

NIEMIEC IS SHOWING THAT HE CAN FILL THE SHOES LEFT BY THE NOTED CHRISTY FLANAGAN.

By QUIN HALL.

WHEN the strong Wisconsin
eleven—Thistlethwaite
coached—ramped over the
Notre Dame Ramblers to the
strains of a 22-6 score earlier in
the season, the boys who huddle in
the bleachers in their raccoon coats
and do a lot of cheering shook
their heads and started in to pity
poor old Knute Rockne.

It was the first time in a decade
that the Irish from South Bend had
been forced to bow to a Big Ten
eleven—and what a bow!

A week later in Chicago before
the biggest mob that ever witnessed a gridiron struggle the Notre Dame warriors retrieved
some of their lost prestige by taking the Navy, 7-0. The Navy may
have a weak team you chortle—
and well you may—because the Navy, before the Notre Dame
clash, had met defeat at the hands
of Davis-Ellins and Boston College. These games gave the Navy
nothing to cheer about as they
went into the matinee with the Irish.

However, the Ramblers DID win
and while the margin wasn't any-
thing that a Zeppelin could be
shoved through, it was enough to
give Notre Dame a start which
may yet lead to another successful
season for Rockne's Rockets.

In all of his early games,
Rockne shot in what he likes to
refer to as his "shock troops" to
disrupt the enemy attack and bore
holes in the opposing walls for
ground gaining Irish ball carriers.
Rockne will doubtless continue to
utilize his shock troops to cause
trouble throughout the whole season.

The Notre Dame shock troops
make up in ability what they lack
in numbers. The entire outfit is composed of Johnny Niemiec, at half, and Frank Carideo, at quarter. This pair were largely responsible for the lone tallies made against Wisconsin and the Navy. In the Wisconsin game Niemiec went across for the counter after the Irish backs had battered their way down the field,
and against the Navy, Johnny made some good gains and finally tossed a pass to Colerick, a sub-end, who was put in the line-up at a critical moment.

Niemiec, a triple-threat man, is doing a lot to fill the shoes left vacant by Christy Flanagan and while Notre Dame may not make the record expected of it, Johnny,
barring serious injury, will undoubtedly make a name for himself as a consistent ground gainer.
Kept on the sidelines during the last half of the 1927 season on account of injuries, Johnny is now trying to make up some of the time he lost from the field at that time, and the fact that he is a good punter, a reliable passer and a fellow who can slip away for occasional gallops makes him a handy

guy for Rockne to have around.

Going into the last half of their schedule, Notre Dame meets Penn State at Philadelphia tomorrow. A week later the Ramblers collide
with the Army in New York City.
On the seventeenth they have a joust scheduled with Carnegie
Tech at their home lot in South Bend and on December 8 they will
meet Southern California in Los Angeles. The Irish did not meet
two of these opponents—Penn
State and Carnegie—last Fall
while they met defeat at the hands
of the Army—18-0—and just managed to wring a victory from Southern California, 7-6.

An interesting feature about the Notre Dame team is the fact that
almost all of the games are played
away from home—hence, the Ramblers. This condition is brought
about by the fact that they haven't
a stadium at South Bend that will
accommodate anything like a large
crowd.

Consequently Rockne has to depend on his gang doing a lot of
traveling and before the end of
the season it will probably be

DESCENDANT OF PILGRIM LEADER IS DEAD TODAY

NOEL MORRIS NERVED TO SUICIDE BY STRAINS OF MUSIC

WAGNER'S OPERA, "TANNHAUSER," CAUSES HIM TO BROOD

New York, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Noel Morris, member of one of America's oldest families and a direct descendant of Governor Bradford, the Pilgrim leader, is dead today—apparently nerved to the point of suicide by the stirring strains of Wagner's opera, "Tannhauser."

Morris' body was found late yesterday behind locked doors in his luxurious apartment on East Seventieth street, his hand clutching a revolver and a bullet through his head.

On a desk was found a neatly typed note, thrust between the pages of his diary. The note said:

"This is the closing entry. Tannhauser was not able to stick it out, but I am."

Police today reconstructed a strange story of how the young philosophy student returned from the opera Wednesday night where he had heard Maria Jeritza and Rudolf Laubenthal sing the principal roles in "Tannhauser."

Apparently Morris had not intended to take his life when he first got back from the opera. He had gone to bed—his body was clothed in pajamas when relatives had the door removed from its hinges and discovered he had taken his life.

Morris had lain in bed brooding over the fate of "Tannhauser," the German knight who wandered over the world, arrived at the court of Venus, and gave himself up to worldly pleasure, only to tire of it and make a pilgrimage to the Vatican to seek forgiveness.

Morris must have seen some parallel between his life and the Tannhauser of legend, because he arose, went into the bathroom and shot himself through the head.

Morris' mother who was Alice Vanderbilt Shepard, is a great granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt. His father, David H. Morris, is vice president of the St. Louis Southwestern railway.

An autopsy will be held today.

RUSS SOVIET MORE LENIENT TO LEON TROTSKY

London, Nov. 2.—(UP)—The Russian Soviet government has decided to be more lenient to Leon Trotsky, exiled leader, and other members of the "opposition" who were banished from the communist party. It was disclosed from reliable sources today.

Trotsky, it was said, will be permitted soon to leave his present primitive place of exile in Turkestan, six days from Moscow, and go to Soukhum in the Caucasus. Soukhum is an idyllic watering place resembling the Riviera and only three days from Moscow.

Trotsky will be allowed a private home and freedom of movement. It was understood, with facilities to recuperate his health, which recently has been poor.

Christian Rakovsky, another outstanding opposition leader and former ambassador to France, also will receive special consideration. He has been appointed already to a responsible government position.

Serebriakoff, another opposition leader, will become assistant head of Amtorg, the Russian trading corporation in America, under the new director, Schlenmann.

FORMER POLICEMAN FACES LIFE SENTENCE

Minneapolis, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Found guilty of the second degree murder of his wife, Oct. 11, Robert Cooper, 34, former Minneapolis policeman, today faced life imprisonment. The state presented evidence intended to prove that Mrs. Cooper had been beaten to death and had not been injured by a fall as claimed by the defense. Cooper is expected to be sentenced in a few days.

15 RELATIVES TO SAME SCHOOL

E. K. Schneider, sent direct from Dakota Business College, Fargo, to the Chevrolet Agency, Goodrich, was the 15th member of the Schneider "clan" to attend this famous school. A huge percentage of students come on the recommendation of former pupils.

LEWIS STONE, "FREEDOM OF THE PRESS" WITH MARCELLINE DAY, A UNIVERSAL PICTURE.

The intensely interesting and dramatic atmosphere that is bound up with life on a newspaper has been brought to the screen in the greatest story of journalism ever made. It is titled "Freedom of the Press" showing at the Lyceum tonight only and is a film version of an original screen story by Peter B. Kyne.

A battle between the cruel forces of the sword and the mighty power of the pen is the dramatic theme upon which the picture is based.

An all-star company of supporting players appears in "Freedom of the Press." Marcelline Day has the feminine lead. Malcolm McGregor is the son of the newspaper publisher and Henry B. Walthall is the father.

ESDON

A. E. Thayer and son-in-law Geo. Jensen and family, formerly residents of Leader, Cass county, have established residence on the Gergen place, south of the Esdon school. This community is glad to welcome them.

The ladies aid will meet on Thursday, November 8, with Mrs. Joe Poinsett of the Nokay Lake neighborhood.

Harold L. Stafford of Route 1, Deerwood, endorsed by the National Radio Institute, Washington, D. C., is passing around cards, advertising his ability to doctor radios. If you need anyone give him a chance to demonstrate.

The Hallowe'en social at the Esdon school house on Wednesday evening was a success, socially and financially. A fine program was rendered and enjoyed by a large crowd. On Friday evening Miss Pearl Sander of District 26 announced that she would have a social.

Mrs. James Coffield returned on Wednesday from Minneapolis where she has been visiting relatives.

The Esdon Sunday school expects to continue sessions until Christmas, at least. A great deal of interest is manifested, as shown by the fine attendance.

HURLEY AND TWO COMPANIONS ARE NOW IN AUSTRALIA

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Capt. Frank Hurley and two companions flying from Sydney to England and return, arrived today at Wyndham, on the north coast.

They flew to Wyndham from Oodnadatta, a flight of 1,200 miles across the interior. From Wyndham they will begin the first of their flights across the ocean, covering the 10,850 miles to London in eight stages.

The three Australians hope to start tomorrow, if the weather is favorable.

HENRY FORD BELIEVES IN HERBERT HOOVER

SAYS LATTER ALONE CAN GUIDE COUNTRY TO NEW PROSPERITY

FOR THIS REASON, AND NOT BECAUSE HE IS REPUBLICAN, FORD BACKS HIM

New York, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Henry Ford believes Herbert Hoover alone can guide this country to new prosperity.

For this reason and not because Hoover is a republican, Ford is backing him for the presidency, he said today.

In an interview copyrighted by Dow Jones & Company, Ford said:

"It is not because Mr. Hoover is a republican that I support him. If he had nothing but party qualities he would not interest me as he does. From my acquaintance with him I believe that his background and abilities and vision especially fit him for these very special times in which we live.

"It is going to take more than mere political experience to pilot this country in the future. Government can always be a hindrance to progress and often it can be a help, but it is never a help unless it is guided by a man who knows which way progress is going and what its elements are.

"No prosperity is possible unless the country is sober. Our present high qualities of production and high rate of wages—the highest in the world—are made possible by the industrious sobriety of the American working man.

"It is almost a mathematical certainty in my mind that if liquor comes back there would be unavoidable decrease in wages, because liquor and prosperity never go together.

"We are abolishing panics in this country, but if we admit liquor back into the country we are letting in one more ingredient of national poverty.

"The reason we must have a new kind of president is that we are on the threshold of a new kind of world. Many believe we are living in an industrial age and that the big job is to keep things running just as they are. No. We have scarcely begun. We have yet to enter the industrial and comfortable age; and before we can enter it we must have national leadership by a man who sees the main problem in all its wide reaches, who can take working men and manufacturers and financiers and put them all to work—a social engineer who can direct and oversee and referee between all parties and keep them all busy at the main task of creating a prosperity which shall be continued and equally distributed throughout the country.

"Herbert Hoover knows the country's problem is not to be solved by a little tinkering here and there. It needs guidance that can only come from a survey of the whole field. He is capable of giving that guidance."

Three Unmasked Bandits Rob Bank Cashier

Gas City, Ind., Nov. 2.—(UP)—Three unmasked bandits today robbed J. W. Ball, bank cashier, of $10,000 in currency. The money was part of a payroll.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS' COLUMN

(Contributed)

In Wednesday evening's Dispatch, it was stated, in the League of Women Voters campaign publicity column, that the passage of the two amendments would mean a radical departure from our present policy. It has been suggested that it be made clear just what the effect would be in case either amendment passed.

Amendment No. 1 would divert one-third of our present gasoline tax income from its present use, which is the building of trunk highways, to the building of county and township roads. This fund would go into the state road and bridge fund and would not be used for building main highways. In other words, while Iowa and some other neighboring states are vastly increasing their arterial highway system, this would cut Minnesota's highway program down. Minnesota has gained a reputation for having one of the best highway systems in the country and one that is honestly and economically administered. Iowa's roads have been joked about so much that her people have been stung into proposing an unprecedented bonding proposition in order that her roads may be taken out of the joke column and put into the advertising columns. If amendment No. 1 passes, the position of the two states may be reversed. However, odious comparisons may be, they are always made—especially by tourists. Probably one-third of our tourists—perhaps one-half drive through Iowa. Minnesota's good roads have been a strong magnet drawing tourists to our lake region. The passage of this amendment will decidedly weaken the power of this magnet.

The passage of amendment No. 2 would repeal the double liability clause of our corporation requirements. In other words, anyone holding stock in any corporation incorporated under the laws of Minnesota is liable for twice the amount of his stock, in case the corporation fails. If this amendment passes, he will only be liable for the amount of his stock.

The much discussed question as to whether or not a person sick in bed may use the absent voter's ballot has been passed upon by the attorney general. According to his opinion, if a voter is sick outside of his own precinct he may vote by sending to the county auditor for an absent voter's ballot and having it acknowledged by a proper official. If sick in his own home, or in a hospital which happens to be located in his own precinct, he loses his vote.

However if a person is able to reach the polling place but unable to enter without assistance, the judges of election may appoint one of their number to take ballots to him and assist in marking the same, when requested, in the presence of a witness selected by the voter.

A simple explanation of how to fold the ballot has been requested. As nothing could be clearer than the law on this subject, I will quote the law. "When a voter has marked his ballot, he shall fold it so that its face will be concealed and only the initials on the back be visible." Two election judges are obliged to place their initials on the backs of the ballots opposite the fac-simile of the signature of the officer under whose directions the ballots were printed.

Any one wishing sample ballots with which to experiment in folding or marking, can secure them from Mrs. Rose Parker, phone 188.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 2.—(UP)—The validity of testimony by an atheist is to be decided by the Alabama supreme court in the appeal of the case of Mrs. Emma Marshall, convicted of murdering her husband.

Counsel for the condemned woman appealed on the theory that Marshall's death bed statement—which caused her conviction—was not admissible in the case because he did not believe in God.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. Just two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

You'll like the flavor and crispness of ALL-BRAN. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Mix with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Aunt Lucia" is all that could be wished for in a home talent production. It opened last evening to a large house in the U. C. T. auditorium and brought forth hearty approval, judging from the applause of those present.

Twenty-eight college boy flappers danced, kicked, and strutted in costumes all the way down from Cleopatra to Peaches Browning. It was a scream. The impersonations were loudly applauded and the three sets of flappers were recalled twice to the stage.

The chorus girls kicked and sang like professionals. The sailor number "Breezin' Along" won laurels for the evening.

The College Alumni Glee club of 15 male voices presented a group of college songs and yells, lead by Michael Barrett.

A group of 60 local children in a scene, "Take Me Back to Babyland" was starred in the opening number.

Miss Ruth Swartz and Miss Edith Titus sang specialty numbers with choruses. Joe Swindell gave a monologue and the little Misses Mildred and Bernice Hill and Violet Ritari gave an exhibition of popular acrobatic stunts. Miss Lor Rayne Morrison was pianist of the evening.

The plot of "Aunt Lucia" revolved around the predicament of a college youth who was found by the school dean disguised as a woman, believed by her to be a wealthy philanthropist. Lester Peterson fills the role of "Aunt Lucia" ably supported by those in the cast.

"Aunt Lucia" will be presented for the last time this evening.

The production is staged under auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose and directed by Miss Thelma Bump of the Universal Producing Co.

WOMAN WITNESS IN THE ELLER TRIAL IS THREATENED WITH DEATH

LEARNS FURTHER THAT HER BROTHER HAD BEEN KID- NAPED

Chicago, Nov. 2. — (UP) — The trial of sixteen henchmen of Morris Eller, city collector, was halted here when a woman witness was threatened with death if she testified.

At the same time she learned her brother had been kidnapped and was held as a hostage. The woman became hysterical a short time before she was to take the stand and testify regarding the slaying of Octavius Granady, negro opponent of Eller in the primary last April.

When Miss Margaret Walsh, 22, was called to appear it was learned she was in a hotel room in a hysterical condition after having been threatened over the telephone.

"We'll blow your head off if you testify," was the threat. She was told that her brother, Laddie, had been spirited away by gangsters.

Judge John M. O'Connor, before whom the case is being tried, called the defense and prosecuting attorneys into his chambers.

State's attorneys demanded that the bonds of the sixteen defendants be cancelled and they be put into jail until Walsh was returned.

The judge denied the motion but went to the hotel with Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, alienist, to ascertain the condition of Miss Walsh.

Miss Walsh was expected to be the state's star witness against the sixteen. It was said she was ready to identify at least two of them in the killing of Granady.

Deputy Commissioner of Police John Stege had several squads searching west side gangster hangouts for Walsh, believing he had been kidnapped by friends of the men on trial.

UKRAINIAN STUDENTS AND POLICE CLASH

HUNDREDS OF SHOTS EXCHANGED IN DISTURBANCE AT LEMBERG

STUDENTS TRIED TO DEMOLISH MONUMENTS CELEBRATING OVERTHROW OF REGIME

Berlin, Nov. 2. — (UP) — Hundreds of shots were exchanged in a disturbance at Lemberg, Poland, when Ukrainian students fought with police, dispatches reported today.

Several students and policemen were wounded. The disturbance started when the students tried to demolish monuments celebrating the overthrow of the Ukrainian regime in Lemberg by Polish free-booters on Nov. 1, 1918.

Two thousand students attended services at the Cathedral yesterday. Leaving the Cathedral, they marched to the cemetery, where the skirmish ensued.

During the fighting, students hoisted the Ukrainian flag over the Cathedral.

Berlin, Nov. 2. — Eighty Ukrainian students and Polish police were estimated to have been wounded in Lemberg, Poland, during a disturbance today.

Students fought the police with stones, and police replied with revolver shots.

VOTERS PREPARE TO BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT ON NOV. 4

DISPATCHES REPORT 25 PER CENT INCREASE IN REGIS- TRATIONS

Washington, Nov. 2. — (UP) — Charges of fraud in registrations are echoing in Nicaragua today as the voters prepare to ballot for a president Nov. 4, under the supervision of the United States.

Dispatches from Nicaragua report a 25 per cent increase in registrations this year compared with 1924, and that both liberal and conservative newspapers are alleging that their opponents have resorted to fraudulent registrations.

It appears the vote this year may be almost double that cast for president in 1924 when, although 120,000 persons registered, only 84,000 voted. Adolfo Bernard is the conservative candidate and General Jose Moncada the liberal.

American officers who are conducting the election doubted the existence of fraud on any large scale, Eberhart reported. He said few instances of repeating registration had been discovered and that more repetitions would have been revealed if 25 per cent of the registration actually were fraudulent, as some newspapers have charged.

Although there have been general charges of fraud, Eberhardt said, there had been almost no complaints from either side against the electoral officials and that enlisted marines in charge of the polling places appeared to have exhibited tact and judgment.

He attributed the increased registration to maintenance of order by American authority and to the voters' confidence in American supervision.

TRIAL OF 16 HENCHMEN IS HALTED IN CHICAGO

WOMAN WITNESS IN THE ELLER
TRIAL IS THREATENED WITH DEATH

LEARN'S FURTHER THAT HER BROTHER HAD BEEN KID-NAPED

Chicago, Nov. 2. — (UP) — The trial of sixteen henchmen of Morris Eller, city collector, was halted here when a woman witness was threatened with death if she testified.

At the same time she learned her brother had been kidnapped and was held as a hostage. The woman became hysterical a short time before she was to take the stand and testify regarding the slaying of Octavius Granady, negro opponent of Eller in the primary last April.

When Miss Margaret Walsh, 22, was called to appear it was learned she was in a hotel room in a hysterical condition after having been threatened over the telephone.

"We'll blow your head off if you testify," was the threat. She was told that her brother, Laddie, had been spirited away by gangsters.

Judge John M. O'Connor, before whom the case is being tried, called the defense and prosecuting attorneys into his chambers.

State's attorneys demanded that the bonds of the sixteen defendants be cancelled and they be put into jail until Walsh was returned.

The judge denied the motion but went to the hotel with Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, alienist, to ascertain the condition of Miss Walsh.

Miss Walsh was expected to be the state's star witness against the sixteen. It was said she was ready to identify at least two of them in the killing of Granady.

Deputy Commissioner of Police John Stege had several squads searching west side gangster hangouts for Walsh, believing he had been kidnapped by friends of the men on trial.

HUNDREDS OF SHOTS EXCHANGED IN DISTURBANCE AT LEMBERG

STUDENTS TRIED TO DEMOLISH
MONUMENTS CELEBRATING OVERTHROW OF REGIME

Berlin, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Hundreds of shots were exchanged in a disturbance at Lemberg, Poland, when Ukrainian students fought with police, dispatches reported today.

Several students and policemen were wounded. The disturbance started when the students tried to demolish monuments celebrating the overthrow of the Ukrainian regime in Lemberg by Polish free-booters on Nov. 1, 1918.

Two thousand students attended services at the Cathedral yesterday. Leaving the Cathedral, they marched to the cemetery, where the skirmish ensued.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—Eighty Ukrainian students and Polish police were estimated to have been wounded in Lemberg, Poland, during a disturbance today.

Students fought the police with stones, and police replied with revolver shots.

VOTERS PREPARE TO BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT ON NOV. 4

DISPATCHES REPORT 25 PER CENT INCREASE IN REGIS-TRATIONS

Washington, Nov. 2. — (UP) — Charges of fraud in registrations are echoing in Nicaragua today as the voters prepare to ballot for a president Nov. 4, under the supervision of the United States.

Dispatches from Nicaragua report a 25 per cent increase in registrations this year compared with 1924, and that both liberal and conservative newspapers are alleging that their opponents have resorted to fraudulent registrations.

It appears the vote this year may be almost double that cast for president in 1924 when, although 120,000 persons registered, only 84,000 voted. Adolfo Bernard is the conservative candidate and General Jose Moncada the liberal.

American officers who are conducting the election doubted the existence of fraud on any large scale. Eberhart reported. He said few instances of repeating registration had been discovered and that more repetitions would have been revealed if 25 per cent of the registration actually were fraudulent, as some newspapers have charged.

Although there have been general charges of fraud, Eberhart said, there had been almost no complaints from either side against the electoral officials and that enlisted marines in charge of the polling places appeared to have exhibited tact and judgment.

He attributed the increased registration to maintenance of order by American authority and to the voters' confidence in American supervision.

'FLYING FISH' WILL NOT CARRY BACKER OF FLIGHT

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 2.—(UP)—The Flying Fish, an amphibian plane on the way to Bermuda from New York, will not carry George Palmer Putnam, publisher and financial backer of the flight.

The flight will be continued with Capt. Harry Lyons and Lt. W. N. Lanaster on board, it was learned last night.

ADVERSE WEATHER DELAYS FLIGHT OF YOUNG JAMES

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Adverse weather caused postponement today of the resumption of Richard E. James' trans-continental flight. James, 17, flying east, arrived late yesterday and had planned to continue to Cheyenne, Wyo., today, but gave up hope of starting at 9:45 a. m.
